PREFACE

A Table of vital statistics for the Jesse Korns family is provided at the end of this story, before the several Appendices. The table was initially built from the 1870 census data.¹ Then as subsequent census reports provided different data, the table was revised. We have found some records of the marriages; the ages (and thus dates of birth) from the marriage records do not match the ages (and thus the dates of birth) from the census reports. We will search for military papers, newspaper articles, family bibles, obituaries and tombstones, to refine the data. This is a work in progress and new information would be most welcome.

After Jesse Korns died, his Last Will and Testament was probated, including an estate appraisal which is valuable in documenting his home furnishings. Then the heirs divided the estate. Jesse Korns Last Will and Testament as well as the documents applicable to his estate disposal are provided at the end of this report.

The many deeds and mortgages recorded by the Korns family are provided in a separate, Volume 2. That Volume 2 is available from the author upon request. It is a repository for the many records and readers are most welcome to use it to recall any land deed or mortgage cited in this report for verification of my transcription. All the Jesse and Henry Korns canal boat mortgages are compiled in another document, available on the same internet site as this report.

We hope the readers will find the story interesting and contact me with additional information or corrections.

The first record we have found of Henry Korn was that of his estate settlement papers. Apparently he died in 1861 and left $59.10 to be distributed among his seven heirs, from which we started the family statistics table, provided at the back of this report. On July 10, 1827 his daughter Elizabeth, married Mr. Washington.² And on Oct. 30, 1828 his daughter, Mariah, married Mr. Shuck.³ But that is getting ahead of the story.

The first record we have found of Jesse Korn was: "The population of Cumberland in 1830 was only 1162, but it was then a lively town with bright prospects for the future. The town depended principally upon the through traffic between the sea-board and the interior, and was of importance as a transfer station. . . . Among the members of the Cumberland Fire Engine Company, which was in existence in 1831, were Dr. Samuel P. Smith, Thomas J. McKaig, Jesse Korn, and John M. Carleton. Stages were running between Cumberland and Washington City, via Winchester, leaving Cumberland on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays."⁴ On March 3, 1831 Jesse Korn married Ruth Plank.⁵ And then came the great fire of 1833 which burned much of Cumberland.

On Nov. 4, 1841, Henry Korn married Delilah Speelman.⁶ And on Jan. 26, 1842 Lavinia Korn married Mr. Sullivan.⁷ Henry Korn's other daughter, Margaret, also married but the record has not been found.

"New Canal Boats. Mr. John H. Clark, one of our enterprising boat builders, launched from his yard into its destined element, on Monday last, the new and magnificent Canal Boat "American Flag." She is ninety feet in length, about fourteen feet four inches in width, and calculated to carry one hundred and fifteen tons burden.

"Messrs. J. & H. Korn, also worthy and enterprising boat builders of our city, launched from their yard on the Potomac, on Tuesday last, the new and splendid Canal Boat "Oregon." The Oregon is also ninety feet in length, fourteen feet four inches in width, and intended to carry one hundred and fifteen tons burden. Both of the above neat and substantial Boats, we learn, have been built by the proprietors for sale."⁸

The 1850 census reported a Henry Horns (sic. Korn), age 33 working as a Boat Builder with real estate valued at $1,500.⁹ Living with him was Delilah Korn, age 33, Ann M. Korn, age 2, and Ann Willison, age 17, possibly a domestic. This must have been Henry Korn's first marriage.

The same census reported a Jesse Korn, age 42, a Brick Maker was living with Ruth, age 43, his wife; Catherine, age 16; Hester Ann Korn, age 14; Columbia Korn, age 12; and Hersey, age 5.¹⁰ Harriet Korn, age 7, should have been listed; perhaps she was elsewhere that day. And on that same page of the census it was reported that Henry Corns (sic. Korn), a 72 year old Silversmith, was living with Maria Shuck, age 47, and her three children: Jacob H., a 21 year old painter; William S., an 18 year old tobacconist; and Lavina C., 16 years old with no occupation listed.

Both Jesse and Henry Kornes must have been well respected in the Cumberland area with a good credit rating because they were co-signers of several security bonds for other men who had been elected to office. In 1851, Francis M. Deems became Clerk to the Board of Commissioners and thus Treasurer of the School Fund; his bond was $5,000, Jesse and Henry Kornes were two of nine co-signers.¹¹

Sometime before 1851 Jesse and Henry Kornes had established a business named "J. & H. Kornes" which built canal boats as evidenced by their taking a mortgage on the canal boat named "James Terrell" for twelve hundred dollars, of which the new owner, James Terrell, paid six hundred dollars in cash and gave two promissory notes valued at $300 each.¹² A tabulation of the many Jesse and Henry Kornes Canal Boat Mortgages is provided at the end of this report, after the table of family statistics. A compilation of the mortgages may be found at www.candocanal.org/histdocs/index.html. The location of this canal boat yard has not yet been determined nor has the time when canal boat construction first started there; additional research will be necessary.

The next year Francis M. Deems needed a $1,000 bond to serve as Clerk to the Board of Commissioners, Jesse and Henry Kornes were two of eleven co-signers.¹³ They continued building canal boats and on September 25, 1852 sold the canal boat named "Pioneer" for $1,150 to Nathaniel Drenner, who paid $250 at the signing and then one payment of $50 and twelve subsequent monthly payments of $75 each, plus interest.¹⁴ In these early days of the canal being open to Cumberland, the canal boat mortgage format had not yet been established; each one fit the buyers circumstances. 1852 was a year of floods and the breaks in the canal interrupted navigation. Jesse and Henry Kornes added a codicil to this mortgage wherein the time lost due to breaks on the canal would extend the time on any of the remaining notes an equal amount of time.

In 1853 George M. Blocher was elected Sheriff of Allegany County and needed a $26,666.66 bond; Jesse Kornes was one of six co-signers.¹⁵ Francis M. Deems was Clerk to the Board of Commissioners and needed a $5,000 bond; Henry Kornes was one of six co-signers.¹⁶ In November of 1853, William J. Slicer signed a promissory note in the amount of $2,050 due in one year and endorsed by William A. Taylor and Jesse Kornes, with the Canal Boat named "C. T. Porterfield" and two horses as collateral.¹⁷ There was no mention of installment payments or interest; one lump sum due in one year. On March 21, 1853 Mary Catherine Kornes married Samuel T. Little,¹⁸ who subsequently became a well respected jeweler in Cumberland.

The next year, on April 10, 1854, Henry Kornes married Christina Shuck.¹⁹ It was his second marriage.

In 1854 the Board of Commissioners appointed Lloyd B. Smith Collector of the State tax with a $35,000 bond; Jesse Kornes was one of nine co-signers.²⁰ On the very same day, another bond in the amount of $89,000 was recorded for Lloyd B. Smith who had also been appointed by the Board of Commissioners as Collector of the County Charges; Jesse and Henry Korn were two of ten co-signers.²¹

In 1854, a certain Greenberry Hook conveyed certain real and personal property to Levi Witt, who was to sell the property at public sale to pay the Greenberry Hook debts. Levi Witt failed to file a bond for the faithful performance of the Trust. The Circuit Court of Allegany County appointed Jesse Korn to execute the trust and he filed a bond in the amount of $2,000, co-signed by Henry Korn and Benjamin M. Blocher.²² That same year Lloyd B. Smith was reappointed Collector of the State taxes with a bond of $20,000; Jesse Korn was one of seven co-signers.²³ And Lloyd B. Smith was also reappointed Collector of County charges with a bond of $90,000; both Jesse and Henry Korn were two of ten co-signers.²⁴

In 1856, William W. McKaig was appointed Trustee of certain goods, wares and merchandise in the store room of David G. Blair; William W. McKaig was to sell and dispose of the property to pay the creditors of David G. Blair. William W. McKaig recorded a $2,500 bond with Jesse Korn as one of three co-signers.²⁵ The following month Jesse and Henry Korn loaned $600 to James Terrell who put up his canal boats called "James Terrell" and "Reporter" with all the rigging, furniture and cooking utensils belonging to both boats plus 10 horses and three mules as collateral.²⁶ Remember that James Terrell had previously bought the canal boat "James Terrell" from Jesse and Henry Korn on June 9, 1851. Presumably in the intervening time that mortgage had been paid off, James Terrell had bought the canal boat called "Reporter" from someone else and now needed the equivalent of a home equity loan today. That mortgage uses the term "late partners" twice, suggesting a dissolution of the partnership J. & H. Korn. Perhaps that can be verified in the newspapers of the day.

In 1857 a Jacob Couter signed two promissory notes in the amount of $135 to the Cumberland Bank of Allegany County which Jesse Korn and Horace Resley endorsed as sureties. Jacob Couter mortgaged two horses to Jesse Korn and Horace Resley to indemnify them from any loss.²⁷ In August 1858 John B. Hays in consideration of $1,205 mortgaged his canal boat called "Minnie Slack" to Henry Korn; the principal to be repaid in installments of $45 per trip and the boat to be running constantly with not less than four mules or horses.²⁸ Notice the mortgage was to Henry Korn alone and was released on Oct. 20, 1863. In June of 1859 Jesse Korn was owed $1,450 by Adam Shafer who used his canal boat "Hester A. Korn" as collateral and promised to repay the mortgage at $40 per trip, running the boat day and night, after the first trip. Notice this mortgage was to Jesse Korn alone, supporting the earlier observation of a breakup in the partnership. "Hester A. Korn" was one of Jesse Korn's daughters.

But on April 27, 1860 A. L. Miller bought the canal boat "C. E. Detmold" from J. & H. Korn, the partnership, for $1,250 and agreed to repay the mortgage at $40 per trip running the boat constantly day and night.²⁹ And on May 28, 1860 John Cole bought the canal scow "Alexander Shaw" for $1,250 from J. & H. Korn; the partnership, agreeing to make installment payments of $40 per trip, running the boat constantly day and night.³⁰ It would appear that the partnership had been restored.

On May 29, 1860 John B. Widener was appointed by the Board of Commissioners of Public Schools of Allegany County, Treasurer for one year with a bond of $30,000; Jesse Korn was one of six co-signers.³¹

The U.S. census of 1860 reported Jesse Korn, age 50 years, a Master Boat Builder, with real estate valued at $4,000 and a Personal Estate valued at $4,000.³² Living with him were his wife, Ruth, age 50 years; daughter, Hester, age 25 years; daughter, Columbia, age 20 years; son, Hursey, age 14 years; daughter, Harriet P., age 17 years; and daughter Emily, age 14 years, all born in Maryland.

The same census reported that Henry Korn, age 44, was a Boat Builder, with real estate valued at $1,800 and a personal estate valued at $1,000.³³ Living with him were: wife Christiana [Shuck], age 37 years; daughter, Ann M., age 12 years; daughter, Hannah, age 5 years; son, George H., age 4 years; daughter Harriet, age 4 years; son, Jesse, age 2 years; and son Charlton, age 5/12.

1860 was a busy time in that on June 23, 1860 Jesse and Henry Korn for $1,250 sold the canal boat "W. E. Webster" to James Morgan who promised to make installment payments of $40 per trip and run the boat both day and night.³⁴ In September for a consideration of $1,275 they sold the canal boat "Lidy W. Jackson" to Jeremiah Jackson, who promised to make $50 per trip installment payments and to run the boat both day and night.³⁵ The next month for $1,150 they sold the canal boat "William Walsh" to Edward Richter, who promised to make installment payments of $40 per trip and to run the boat both day and night.³⁶

1861 was a time of turmoil; on December 20, 1860 South Carolina had passed the ordinance of secession. Then, on January 17, 1861 the people of Allegany County held a mass-meeting in Cumberland of those who advocated the Union upon the basis of the Constitution and a full recognition of the rights of the South. Officers of the meeting were elected, including Jesse Korn, one of fourteen vice-presidents.³⁷ Resolutions were prepared and passed.

In March of 1861 Jesse and Henry Korn, in consideration of $1,500, sold the canal boat "Emelia Snyder" to Andrew Snyder, who promised to make $40 per trip installments payments and to run the boat both day and night until the entire purchase money, was paid.³⁸ At the same time, in consideration of $1,500, they sold the canal boat "Vienna" to Joseph Bohnert, who also agreed to make $40 per trip installment payments, and run the boat day and night.³⁹

The Civil War began on April 12, 1861. Then in May 1861, Michael Speelman signed two promissory notes in the amount of $84 which Henry Korn's endorsed as surety. Michael Speelman then mortgaged all his household and kitchen furniture to Henry Korn's to indemnify him from any loss.⁴⁰ Michael Speelman may have been related to Henry Korn's first wife.

During the Civil War, Jesse and Henry Korn's sought canal boat construction loans from Christian E. Detmold of New York city. For example on May 16, 1862 they borrowed $1,200 using the canal boats "W. H. Barger," "Phoebe L. Detmold" and "William Elder" as collateral and promised to pay $15 per trip each boat took on the Canal until the purchase money, with interest, was paid.⁴¹ But on April 19, 1862, in consideration of $1,500, they sold the canal boat "W. H. Barger" to Francis Barger, who agreed to pay $40 per trip in installment payments.⁴² And on May 10, 1862 they had, in consideration of $1,500, sold the canal boat "W. Elder" to James Boyd who promised to make $40 per trip installment payments and run the boat both day and night.⁴³ And it wasn't until June 2, 1862 that, in consideration of $1,500, they sold the "Phoebe Detmold" to Jacob Brengle, who also agreed to pay $40 per trip in installment payments and to run the boat both day and night.⁴⁴ It would appear that Jesse and Henry Korn's had borrowed $400 per boat, perhaps to pay their workmen or unspecified debts, and then, as the three boats plied the Canal, they forwarded $15 per trip to Christian E. Detmold and kept the balance against the retail cost of the boat.

The process repeated in July of 1862 when Jesse and Henry Korn's again borrowed $1,200 from Christian E. Detmold using the three canal boats "Therza Hall," "Minnie & Zilla" and "A. Goodwin" as collateral, and promising to pay $15 per trip per boat in installment payments.⁴⁵ On May 7, 1862, in consideration of $1,450, they sold the canal boat "Therza Hall" to James W. Conner and Jesse M. Hall who made a $200 down payment and agreed to pay $40 per trip and to run the boat day and night.⁴⁶ On June 3, 1862, in consideration of $1,450, they sold the canal boat "Minnie & Zilla" to Michael and John Shannon who agreed to make installment payments of $42.50 per trip.⁴⁷ And on July 15, 1862, in consideration of $1,450, they sold the canal boat "Andrew Goodwin" to Peter Kelly who agreed to pay $50 per trip for the first ten trips and then $40 per trip for the remaining trips and to run the boat both day and night.⁴⁸ It would appear that they again borrowed $400 per boat, and then, as the three boats plied the Canal, they forwarded $15 per trip to Christian E. Detmold and kept the balance against the retail cost of the boat.

1863 wasn't much better. On Feb. 18, 1863 Jesse and Henry Korn's borrowed $400 against the canal boat "1776" and agreed to pay $15 per trip against the principal.⁴⁹ On the same day they also borrowed $2,800 against the four canal boats "James Shaw," "Mary Willard," "Mary P. C. Morrison" and "Rosecrans" but this time they had to agree to pay $25 or half the trippage per trip until the loan was paid off.⁵⁰ That was $700 borrowed per boat and a higher rate of installment payments. Later, on May 20, 1863 Jesse Korn's borrowed $600 against the canal boat "Little Bob" with installment payments of $20 per trip.⁵¹ They also borrowed $1,400 against the two canal boats "Josephus" and "Maggie Miller" with installment payments of $27.51 or one half the trippage per trip.⁵² In August they borrowed another $1,400 using the canal boats "Hibernian" and "J. McH. Hollingsworth" as collateral with similar installment payments of $27.51 or one half the trippage per trip.⁵³ In September they borrowed $1,400 again with canal boats "Charlotte" and "Golden Rule" as collateral but only $25 or one half the trippage per trip.⁵⁴ And on the same day they also borrowed $1,400 from Christian E. Detmold with the two canal boats "Gipsy Queen" and William McHugh" as collateral and paying $25 or half the trippage per trip. The canal boat construction cost presumably was rising with increased labor costs to $700 per boat, as a wholesale cost.

Since all these construction loans were made by Christian E. Detmold, an investor from New York City, it seems logical that just as soon as the boats were ready for service that Jesse and Henry Korns sold them to knowledgeable boat captains to freight coal from Cumberland to Georgetown, Alexandria or Washington City. Take for example: on March 17, 1863 the "Mary Willard" was sold for $1,530 to George M. Reed, Jr. who agreed to pay off the mortgage in $50 installment payments and he would run the boat both day and night.⁵⁵ Then there was the "James Shaw" which was sold on March 20, 1863, in consideration of $1,530, to F. M. McCormick who was to pay $55 per trip installment payments based on a freight rate of $1.75 per ton; increases and decreases in freight rates causing a proportional increase or decrease in installment payment amounts but never less than $40 per trip and he would run the boat both day and night.⁵⁶ At the same time the "Gen'l Rosecrans" was sold for $1,530 to John Rinehart who agreed to repay at $55 per trip with those freight rate adjustments and to run the boat both day and night.⁵⁷ And on March 19, 1863 they sold the "Mary P. C. Morrison" for $1,500 to J. G. Morrison who also agreed to repay the mortgage at $50 per trip, with the previously mentioned adjustments and to run the boat both day and night.⁵⁸ So, by May 12, 1863 they had the four boats sold and installment payments coming in from which they could send $15 per trip to the account of Christian E. Detmold to repay the construction loan, keeping the balance to their own account.

On April 28, 1863, for a consideration of $1,530, Jesse and Henry Korns sold the "Josephus" to William Sigafoose who agreed to repay the mortgage at $65 per trip for the first ten trips and then $55 for the remaining trips, with the previously mentioned freight rate adjustments and to run the boat both day and night.⁵⁹ And on May 9, 1863, for $1525, they sold the "Maggie Miller" to Garrett & Miller who agreed to repay the mortgage at $55 per trip, also with the previously mentioned freight rate adjustments and to run the boat both day and night.⁶⁰ Thus another loan to C. E. Detmold was being repaid.

On May 29, 1863, for $1500, they sold the "Hibernian" to John Renehan who agreed to repay the mortgage at $55 per trip, also with the previously mentioned freight rate adjustments and to run the boat both day and night.⁶¹ No record was found for the sale of the "J. McH. Hollingsworth" which presumably remained in the employ of Jesse and Henry Korns until the $700 construction loan was repaid. Its disposition remains unknown.

On August 26, 1863, for $1,550, the canal boat "Charlotte" was sold to Thomas Abernathy who agreed to repay the mortgage at $55 per trip with the previously mentioned freight rate adjustment and to run the boat both day and night.⁶² And in September, for $1,550, the "Golden Rule" was sold to William McKelvey who also agreed to the $55 per trip installment payments, with the freight rate adjustment clause and to run the boat both day and night.⁶³ The disposition of the canal boats "Little Bob" with a construction loan of $600; "Gipsy Queen" with a construction loan of $700; and "William McHugh" with a construction loan of $700 has not been found and we presume they too remained in the employ of Jesse and Henry Korns at least until their construction loans were repaid. The canal boat "1776" was sold after the War, but that is getting ahead of the story.

Something must have happened during 1863 because during 1864 Jesse and Henry Korns went to The Central Coal Mining & Manufacturing Company (CCM&MC) for their canal boat construction loans. On March 14, 1864 the CCM&MC loaned them $4,000 with five canal boats: "Mahala C. Dick," "Industry," "Hibernian," "George Waters" and "Cornelia Alvenia" as collateral, with a $25 per trip per boat payback schedule.⁶⁴ Note that "Hibernian" was included in the list of five boats; she must have been re-possessed since August of 1863. Then on May 12, 1864, Jesse and Henry Korns borrowed another $2,400 against their three boats: "Clearspring," "Filonia Swain" and "H. Mortimer" with a $25 per trip or half the trippage as a payback schedule. Notice that the average wholesale cost of the boats had risen to $800.

"Mahala C. Dick" was sold for $1,575 on April 4, 1864 to Jeremiah Dick who was to repay the mortgage by $50 per trip, with the freight rate adjustment mentioned previously and to run the boat both day and night.⁶⁵ And on April 12, 1864 they sold, for $1,600, the canal boat "Industry" to John Noble who agreed to repay the mortgage at $55 per trip, with the base freight rate starting at $2.00 per ton of coal, with an increase or decrease in trippage resulting in a proportionate increase or decrease in the installment payment, but never less than $40 per trip, and he was to run the boat both day and night. The "Hibernian" sold on April 19, 1864 for $1,500 to John Renehan again.⁶⁶ He agreed to repay the mortgage at $55 per trip, with the latest freight rate adjustment clause included and to run the boat both day and night. The disposition of the other two canal boats, "George Water" and "Cornelia Alvenia" has not been found.

On May 3, 1864 the canal boat "Filonia Swain" was sold for $1,650 to Samuel Swain who agreed to $50 installment payments with the rate adjustment clause and to run the boat both day and night. The disposition of "Clearspring" and "H. Mortimer" has not been found.

On June 21, 1864 Jesse and Henry Korns borrowed $1,600 from CCM&MC with the two boats: "M. E. Hammann" and "Mollie" as collateral with a payback schedule of $25 per trip per boat or half the trippage.⁶⁷ Interestingly, on June 14, 1864 they had sold, for $1,700, the canal boat "Mollie" to Thomas A. Crampton who agreed to repay the mortgage at $55 per trip, with the rate adjustment clause included. The disposition of the "H. E. Hammann" has not been found.

On September 22, 1864 Jesse and Henry Korns went back to the CCM&MC and borrowed $2,400 with the three canal boats: "A. M. Thomas," "Kate Korns" and "Wm. N. Boteter" as collateral with a payback schedule of $25 per trip per boat.⁶⁸ We suspect that they already had buyers in mind because on September 30, 1864, for $1,750, they sold the "Wm. N. Boteter" to William N. Boteter who agreed to an installment payment schedule of $55 per trip with the freight rate adjustment clause based on $2.00 per ton.⁶⁹ And on October 14, 1864, for $3,500, they sold the two canal boats "A. M. Thomas" and "Kate Korns" to Christopher Thomas who also agreed to repay the mortgage at $55 per trip per boat with no freight rate adjustment clause but he did agree to run the boat both day and night.⁷⁰

The process was repeated on November 16, 1864 when CCM&MC loaned them $1,500 with canal boats "Mollie Reid" and Filonia Swain" as collateral and a $25 per trip per boat payment schedule.⁷¹ Back on October 27th 1864 they had already sold, for $2,000, the "Mollie Reid" to Daniel M. Reid who had agreed to make $55 per trip installment payments, again with no freight rate adjustment clause but he did agree to run the boats both day and night.⁷² And we remember they had already sold the "Filonia Swain" to Samuel Swain on May 3rd of that year; Mr. Swain probably had not finished making his installment payments and thus did not have a clear title. So Jesse and Henry Korns were covering their debts as best they could.

The Civil War ended on April 9, 1865. For the year 1865, Jesse Korns had an income of $3,576.65, with a tax of $187.83; he also had a watch valued at $100.00, with a tax of $1.00; and he had a piano valued at $200.00, with a tax of $2.00.⁷³ Jesse Korns qualified as a voter in Election District 13.⁷⁴

On May 10, 1866 the CCM&MC and Jesse Korns together sold, for $1,200, the canal boat called "1776" to James W. Reed who agreed to make installment payments of $60 per trip for the first ten trips and $40 per trip for the remaining trips, until the purchase money, was fully paid and the boat was to be run both day and night.⁷⁵

During July 1866 William Connor borrowed $225 from Jesse and Henry Korns, then doing business as "J. & H. Korns." William Connor mortgaged two hogs, one mare, one cart and one set of cart harness as surety he would pay the debt by July 1, 1867.⁷⁶ Similarly, Jacob Long borrowed $150 from Henry Korns. Jacob Long mortgaged one horse and cart as surety that he would pay the debt by August 23, 1867.⁷⁷

On October 15, 1866, for $1,600, J. & H. Korn sold the canal boat called "C. K. Rentzel" to Jeremiah Dick who agreed to pay $50 per trip in installment payments and to run the boat both day and night. Mr. Dick was a repeat customer from 1864.

Next month, on Nov. 11, 1866, Columbia Korn married William M. Price.⁷⁸ And then on Dec. 18, 1866 Ann M. Korn, Henry Korn daughter by his first wife, married John G. Hodel.⁷⁹ Henry Korn had qualified as a voter in Election District 13.⁸⁰

During January 1867, in Cumberland there was a Canal Meeting of citizens of the County convened at the Court house, for the purpose of taking action to promote and protect the Canal and the interests of Western Maryland in that regard; specifically to secure a reduction of tolls on the Canal and freights on the Cumberland & Pennsylvania Railroad, to such a schedule as would meet then present prices of coal. The meeting was organized by the selection of Col. J. M. Sehley, President; Col. J. P. Roman and Jesse Korn, Esq., Vice Presidents; and Andrew Gonder and Charles C. Shriver, Esqs., Secretaries.⁸¹ Several resolutions were passed including one to appoint a Committee of five whose duty it would be to memorialize the Commissioners of Public Works and the Legislature of our State.

Sometime in early February 1867 that memorial [Report] was completed and submitted to the Board of Public Works, by the committee consisting of Messrs. J. P. Roman, John Humbird, John Coulehan and Jesse Korn.⁸² The newspaper editors declared it an admirably prepared paper; clear, concise and to the point, and exhibits much research and familiarity with the subject. It was replete with facts and statistical information, and demonstrated conclusively the necessity of a reduction of the tolls to render competition with the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad successful.

The memorial [report] was effective because we read: "Canal Tolls. - It is understood that the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal Board, with the approval of the Board of Public Works, have reduced the toll on Coal from 92 to 70 cents per ton."⁸³ We surmise that Jesse Korn was a well respected member of the community, articulate, literate and willing to work on behalf of the citizens.

In 1867 John J. Brotemarkle owed Philip Kirby $22.63 which Jesse Korn took, on the mortgage from John J. Brotemarke of one horse and cart as surety that he would pay the debt.⁸⁴

By February 1870 Ferdinand Thress owed Henry Korn $1,025. Ferdinand Thress bargained and sold the contents of his warehouse at 69 Baltimore Street, which contained numerous household items, to pay the debt.⁸⁵ We don't know how many items Henry Korn moved to his own house before selling the rest to pay the debt.

We suspect that Jesse and Henry Korn were downsizing to the boat repair business, vice the boat building business. The last recorded canal boat mortgage to Henry Korn was made on May 3, 1870 for $1,700 by Thomas V. Hays who used his boat called "P. J. Smith" as collateral and promised to pay $35 per trip until the whole sum was repaid. The shortness of the mortgage supports the observation that it was just a conventional loan; as opposed to the longer mortgages to Jesse and Henry Korn, et. al, of earlier years.

The U.S. census of 1870 reported Jesse Korn, age 59 years, was a Boat Builder, with real estate valued at $14,000 and a personal estate valued at $4,000.⁸⁶ Living with him were: wife, Ruth, age 57 years; daughter, Hester, age 29 years; son, Hersey, age 23 years; and niece, Emma Plank, age 20 years. A domestic also lived with them.

The same census reported that Samuel Little, age 41, was a Dealer in Jewelry, with real estate valued at $20,000 and a personal estate valued at $800.⁸⁷ Living with him were: wife Kate [Korn], age 35 years; daughter, Mary, age 16 years; sons, Jesse, age 13 years; Robert, age 10 years, Samuel, age 7 years; Charles, age 2 years; and daughter Ruth, age 4/12. Also living with them was Harriet Plank, age 22 years, probably a niece to Ruth Plank Korn. A domestic also lived with them.

The same census reported that William M. Price, age 27, was a Lawyer, with real estate valued at $8,000 and personal estate valued at $3,000.⁸⁸ Living with him were: wife Columbia [Korn], age 28; and son, Joseph, age 12 years. A domestic also lived with them.

Jesse Korn was active in the Methodist Episcopal Church, now located on the east side of Wills Creek, on Centre Street. The one-story brick building at that site was demolished starting on Monday, May 1, 1871. The present church was designed by Frank E. Davis, architect, Baltimore, and the building contract was let to Mr. James W. Sowders, of Cumberland. . . .The church was completed and dedicated in 1874-75. . . .The building committee consisted of Messrs. Jesse Korn, L. R. Fechtig, Robert J. Morris, John H. Young, Charles A. Seay, L. W. Brant, and Samuel T. Little.⁸⁹

Later that year, on Mar. 2, 1871 Jesse Korn, administrator of George M. Blocher, deceased, settled his third and final account.⁹⁰ Then on Nov. 28, 1871, Charles H. Korn, a 25 year old bachelor Brick Maker, married Hettie Gephart, who was 21 years old.⁹¹

On December 29, 1871 for $84.74 Charles D. Rohm sold three bedsteads, beds and bedding along with some carpeting and kitchen furniture to Henry Korn.⁹²

On January 5, 1874 for $200 Edward Hadra sold some household furniture to Henry Korn.⁹³ Later that year William Landweber, Jesse Korn and Henry Korn sold back to Samuel D. Hays, the lot and dwelling house occupied by Samuel D. Hays, for six shares of stock of the Queen City Perpetual Building Association in the name and use of Landweber & Korn.⁹⁴ In October, for $52 Henry W. Magruder sold to Henry Korn some household furniture.⁹⁵

Frederick Wiltig owed $300 to Henry Korns; Mr. Wiltig mortgaged all his household furnishing, bakery equipment and fixtures, including a horse and bread delivery wagon, from his place at the corner of Polk & Centre Street.⁹⁶ He had until August 23, 1876 to repay the debt. Louis Peacock had signed a $600 note which Henry Korns had endorsed as security; Louis Peacock put up three horses, a pony, one two-horse wagon and harness to indemnify Henry Korns from any loss.⁹⁷

On January 11, 1876 Charles H. Korns for $475 sells the contents of a cigar store at 22 Bucks Block, Centre Street, Cumberland, MD to William M. Price.⁹⁸ Later that same year James P. Conley for $250 sold all his household furnishings to Jesse Korns.⁹⁹ Notice that in Jesse Korns' Last Will and Testament, provided at the back of this report, Bessie P. Conley, daughter of James P. Conley, was given and bequeathed four shares of the Capitol Stock of the Third National Bank of Cumberland and all her father's furniture, which had been stored in the third story of Jesse Korns' dwelling. And on August 20, 1876 George W. Dougherty put up two boilers, valued at $2,500, at the Cotton Factory in Cumberland as collateral for four notes totaling $1,800 endorsed by Jesse Korns and others.¹⁰⁰

On August 14, 1877 Louis Peacock for $300 mortgaged one mule and one horse to Henry Korns.¹⁰¹ Sometime between August 14, 1877 when this mortgage was signed and Feb. 2, 1878 when Henry Korns' Last Will and Testament was admitted to Probate, Henry Korns died. Christiana Korns took an Oath as Administrator for the Henry Korns Estate on March 8, 1878¹⁰² On the same day, she signed a bond in the amount of $12,000 as Executrix of the Last Will and Testament of Henry Korns, her husband.¹⁰³ Starting on March 9, 1878, Christiana Korns had published in the Daily Alleganian and Times, a newspaper published in Cumberland, a notice to creditors and debtors that they had until October 8, 1878 to settle their accounts or risk being excluded from the estate settlement.¹⁰⁴ In the meantime, Christiana Korns filed a list of the known debts, due and owing to Henry Korns.¹⁰⁵ Jesse Korns, Sr. owed $280 on his note and George Long owed $107 on his note, while Lewis Peacock was owed $329.

Jesse Korns had also been active in the affairs of the Third National Bank which was organized March 10, 1879 and the charter was granted on March 6th. Its original officers were: J. M. Schley, president; W. E. Weber, cashier; John Humbird, Jesse Korns, Frederick Mertens, A. Willison, J. B. Walton, D. C. Bruce, directors. Its first place of business was South Mechanic Street, from which it removed to No. 77 Baltimore Street.¹⁰⁶

On Mar. 29, 1879 George H. Korns, 23 years old and a bachelor Boat Builder, married Lizzie M. Cruthers, 18 years old.¹⁰⁷

The U.S. census of 1880 reported Jesse Korn, age 71 years, widowed, was a Boat Builder.¹⁰⁸ Living with him were: daughter, Hester, age 38 years; and granddaughter, Bessie Connelly, age 12 years. A servant also lived with them.

The same census reported that William M. Price, age 38, was a Lawyer, living on Harrison Street.¹⁰⁹ Living with him were: wife Columbia {Korns}, age 39; and son, Jesse, age 8 years. Two servants also lived with them.

The same census reported that Charles H. Korn, age 33, was a Brick Maker, living on Fifth Street, McKeesport, Pennsylvania.¹¹⁰ Living with him were: wife Columbia {Korns}, age 28; and son, Joseph, age 12 years. A domestic also lived with them.

Some distribution of the Henry Korn estate had taken place as evidenced by Ann M. Hodel, a daughter, acknowledging receipt of $153.68 together with an advancement of $200 made during the lifetime of Henry Korn, as full settlement of her share of the estate of her father.¹¹¹

On June 4, 1881, Jesse Korn made his Last Will and Testament, which is at the back of this report.

Jesse Korn, boat builder, was living at No. 10 Bedford Street; Christiana Korn, widow of Henry Korn, was living at No. 41 Bedford Street; George H. Korn, working in a lab, lived on Thomas Street neat Old Town Road; Jesse Korn, cigars had a shop at 18½ Centre Street and lived at 24½ Frederick Street; Thomas J. Korn was a book-keeper at Third National Bank, and lived at 41 Bedford Street; and William C. Korn was a clerk, boarding at 41 Bedford Street.¹¹² That same document lists only two boat builders: Frederick Mertens and Weld & Sheridan. Thus we surmise that Jesse Korn had retired or was working for someone.

On February 14th, 1888 the Last Will and Testament of Jesse Korn was recorded at the Allegany County Courthouse. We have yet to locate his obituary. Later that year a newspaper reported:

"An Allegany County Case Removed Here. -- The Times, of Cumberland, says: "Case No. 49 of trials for the October term of the Circuit Court, Robert W. and Mary E. Little, administrators of Jesse Korn, vs. J. W. S. Cochrane, attorney, for malpractice, whereby the estate of the deceased is said to have lost considerable money from the erroneous advice of the defendant, has been removed to Washington county on the affidavit of Mr. Cochrane that he cannot have a fair and impartial trial in this county."¹¹³

In 1890 the family's situation had changed. Christiana Korn, widow of Henry, had moved in with their son William C. Korn, who was an agent for Adams Express Co., and lived at 75 Bedford Street; Harriet E. Korn also lived with William. George H. Korn was a letter carrier and lived at 57 Gay Street; Thomas J. Korn was a bookkeeper and lived at 74 Decatur Street; and Jesse Korn was a weigh master who lived at 10 Frederick Street.¹¹⁴

On Oct. 9, 1893, William Charlton Korns, a 32 year old bachelor Express Agent, married Elizabeth L. Knierseim, 26 years old.¹¹⁵

By 1895 the family's situation had changed again. Christiana Korns, widow of Henry, still lived with their son William C. Korns, who was still an agent for Adams Express Co., and lived at 75 Bedford Street; George H. Korns was then a clerk and lived at 84 Maryland Ave; and Jesse Korns was still a weigh master who lived at 154 N. Centre Street.¹¹⁶ The newspaper reported from the Orphans' Court: "Robert W. Little and Mary E. Little, Administrators of Jesse Korns, late of Allegany County, deceased, settled their third and final account."¹¹⁷

By 1899 Christiana Korns and her daughter Harriet E. Korns were living with William C. Korns, who was a coal dealer at 221 N. Centre Street and lived at 75 Bedford Street; Ann M. Korns was boarding with her brother George H. Korns, who was then working in the lab at The Kenneweg Co. and lived at 84 Maryland Ave.; Jesse Korns was a clerk at Cumberland Fruit & Produce Co. and lived at 154 N. Centre Street.¹¹⁸

The U.S. census of 1900 reported C. H. Korns, age 54 years, was into Real Estate, living on Sylvan Street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.¹¹⁹ Living with him were: wife, Henrietta, age 49 years; daughter, Columbia, age 24 years; and daughter, Jessie, age 12 years.

In 1901 Christiana Korns was still living with William C. Korns, who was a coal dealer at 221 N. Centre Street and lived at 75 Bedford Street; Jesse W. Korns was a clerk and boarding with George H. Korns, who was then working as a warehouseman at The Kenneweg Co. and lived at 84 Maryland Ave.; Jesse Korns was a clerk at Atlantic Refining Co. and lived at 154 N. Centre Street.¹²⁰

In 1902 Christiana Korns was still living with William C. Korns, who was a coal dealer at 221 N. Centre Street and lived at 75 Bedford Street; Jesse W. Korns was a machinist with the B. & O. R. R. and boarding with George H. Korns at 84 Maryland Ave.; Jesse Korns was a bookkeeper at Atlantic Refining Co. and lived at 164 N. Centre Street and Reuben Korns was a carpenter living on Fayette Street extended.¹²¹

In 1907 Christiana Korns was still living with William C. Korns, who was a coal and wood dealer for a railroad at 221 N. Centre Street and lived at 75 Bedford Street; Elizabeth. Korns was a feather curler at Footer's Dye Works, Pearl Korns was a finisher at Footer's Dye Works. and both boarded with George H. Korns a cleaner at Footer's Dye Works who lived at 84 Maryland Ave.; Jesse Korns was a clerk at Standard Oil Co. and lived at 164 N. Centre Street.¹²²

In 1909 the residence of Christiana Korns was not found; presumably she died between 1907 and 1909. In 1909 William C. Korns, who was a coal and wood dealer for a railroad at 221 N. Centre Street and lived at 75½ Bedford Street; Pearl Korns was a clerk boarded with George H. Korns an inspector who lived at 84 Maryland Ave.; Jesse Korns was a foreman at J. M. N. Centre Street; Jesse W. Korn was a meter reader for Edison Electric Illuminating Co. and lived at 20 N. Liberty Street.¹²³

By 1911 William C. Korn, had become a Justice of the Peace at 17 N. Liberty Street and lived at 75½ Bedford Street; Pearl Korn was a presser and George H. T. Korn, an inspector, both boarded with George H. Korn a warehouseman at The Kenneweg Co. who lived at 84 Maryland Ave.; Jesse Korn was a clerk at J. M. Streett and lived at 164 N. Centre Street; Jesse W. Korn was a meter reader for Edison Electric Illuminating Co. and lived at 20 N. Liberty Street.¹²⁴

In 1913 William C. Korn, was a superintendent at the water works and lived at 75½ Bedford Street; Ester L. Korn and George H. T. Korn, a driver, both boarded with George H. Korn a warehouseman at The Kenneweg Co. who lived at 84 Maryland Ave.; Jesse Korn was a clerk at J. M. Streett and lived at 164 N. Centre Street; Jesse W. The Last Will and Testament of Henry Korns.

The within will was filed and sworn to as to custody by William M. Price, the person in whose custody, the same was left, and also by the three subscribing witnesses thereto and admitted to probate and record this 8th day of March 1878.

Test: Jno. Rhnid, Register.

In the name of God, Amen, I, Henry Korns of the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, being in perfect health of body, and of sound and disposing mind, memory and understanding, considering the certainty of death and the uncertainty of the time thereof, and being desirous to settle my worldly affairs and thereby be the better prepared to leave this world when it shall please God to call me hence, do therefore make and publish this, my last Will and Testament in manner and form following, that is to say:

First and principally I commit my soul into the hands of Almighty God, and my body to the earth to be decently buried at the discretion of my Executrix hereinafter named, and after all my debts and funeral charges are paid, I devise and bequeath as follows:

Item, It being my desire that all my children both by my first and second wives shall share equally and alike in my estate, and as my only daughter by my first wife, viz Ann, is now married to John Hodel, I direct that the Orphans' Court of Allegany County shall appoint three men of sound judgment and discretion as appraisers, who shall, after being duly sworn, proceed to value and appraise fairly and impartially all my real estate, personal and mixed property of every kind, character and description at a money valuation they shall then divide the sum total thereof into seven parts (equal) and the one seventh part thereof I devise and bequeath unto my daughter Ann Hodel and her heirs to be paid to her or her heirs in cash by my executrix within the space of a reasonable time after my decease and as soon as my executrix can dispose of a sufficient amount of property to pay the same. Nevertheless I desire that whatever advances I have heretofore made or may hereafter make to my said daughter Ann shall be deducted from the seventh above devised her, without interest, and to the payment of the above legacy to my said daughter Ann, I charge the whole of my real & personal estate.

Item, The balance of my children being young & small, being those of my present wife and believing I can best provide for their welfare and future benefit, by devising all the balance of my estate to their mother relying upon her to take care of & raise them properly and provide for their future advancement, therefore I give, devise and bequeath unto my beloved wife Christiana Korns all the rest and residue of my estate, both real and personal and mixed absolutely to her and the heirs of her body forever, relying upon her as before stated, to make suitable provisions of the same at her death, for her children begotten by me, and with full power to dispose of the said property to her devisees, as she may think necessary, proper and right, without any let or hindrance, and of course this devise to my beloved wife is intended to be in lieu of her dower interest in the share devised to my daughter Ann, and to the payment of the said devise to my daughter Ann, I give my Executrix full power to sell and dispose of property, real and personal to pay same.

And lastly I do hereby constitute and appoint my dear wife Christiana Korns to be my sole executrix of this my last will and testament, revoking and annulling all former wills by me made heretofore, satisfying and confirming this & none other to be my last will and testament.

In testimony whereof, I have hereto set my hand and affixed my seal this eighteen day of February in the year Eighteen hundred and seventy three.

Henry Korn {Seal}

Signed, Sealed, published and declared by Henry Korn the above named Testator as and for his last will and testament in the presence of us who at his request, in his presence and in the presence of each other have subscribed our names as witnesses thereto.

Test: A. H. Dowden, Register.

In the name of God, Amen, I, Jesse Korn of the City of Cumberland, in Allegany County, State of Maryland, being in my usual health of body, and of sound and disposing mind, memory and understanding, considering the certainty of death and the uncertainty of the time thereof, and being desirous to settle my worldly affairs and thereby be the better prepared to leave this world when it shall please God to call me hence, do therefore make and publish this, my last Will and Testament in manner and form following, that is to say:

First and principally I commit my soul unto the hands of Almighty God, and my body to the earth to be decently buried at the discretion of my Executrix hereinafter named, and after all my just debts and funeral charges are paid, I devise and bequeath as follows:

Item - I give, devise and bequeath unto my daughter, Hester A. Korn, who has remained so long and faithfully with me, my home property, where I now reside, situated on Bedford Street in the City of Cumberland, in said County and State, fronting fifty feet on said Street and extending back to Polk Street. Also all the furniture and household goods of every description in my said dwelling house, excepting the furniture in the third story which formerly belonged to James P. Conley. I also give and devise unto my said daughter, Hester A. Korn, twenty shares of the Capital Stock of the Third National Bank of Cumberland. It is my wish and desire, in case my said daughter wishes to sell the real estate hereinbefore bequeathed to her, that it be sold or disposed of, if possible, to some member of my family, but I do not restrain her from selling to anyone else.

Item - I have already advanced to my son, Charles H. Korn, the sum of Eighteen hundred and forty dollars, and I now give, devise and bequeath unto my son-in-law, Samuel T. Little, in trust, for the purposes hereinafter mentioned, my house and lot on Polk Street, in said City of Cumberland, in which I formerly resided, which I value at Fifteen hundred dollars. Also sixty shares of the Capital Stock of the Third National Bank of Cumberland, of the par value of Three thousand dollars, my said son to have the right to occupy said Polk Street property as a residence for himself and his family, if he wishes to do so. The said Samuel T. Little, trustee, to have the management and control of said Bank Stock and the renting of said real estate, at such times as it may not be occupied by my said son and his family as a residence. The dividends of said Bank Stock and rents and profits of said real estate to be applied by said Trustee, first to the payment of all taxes and public dues on said real estate, and the balance thereof to be paid over monthly, if convenient, to my said son, during his natural life. And after the death of my said son, the said trustee and his successor or successors shall pay over, in equal proportions, the rents and profits of said real estate and the dividends of said Bank Stock, after paying all taxes, public dues and expenses, to the children of my said son and their descendants, who may be living at the death of my said son, until the youngest of the children of my said son reaches the age of twenty one years, the child or children of a child taking the share or portion to which the parent would be entitled if living, and when the youngest of said children reaches the age of twenty one years, or in case the youngest be twenty one years of age at the death of my said son, then said Trustee shall turn over to said children and their descendants, in equal proportions as aforesaid, said real estate and Bank Stock, in kind, or sell said real estate and Bank

Stock and divide the proceeds thereof as aforesaid as may seem best to said Trustee. And in case said Trustee thinks it advisable, at any time, during the continuance of said trust, to sell said real estate and Bank Stock, or either of them, I do authorize and empower him to do so, and to reinvest the proceeds of such sale or sales, and he shall then apply the income from such investments as hereinbefore directed. And said Trustee shall have full power to convey and transfer said property, and to do all things necessary to carry out the provisions of this trust. And in case of the death of my said son, and all of his said children, without issue, before the youngest one of them arrives at the age of twenty one years, then said real estate and Bank Stock or the securities in which the proceed thereof may be invested, in case said real estate and Bank Stock, or either of them, shall have already been sold as hereinbefore authorized, shall be converted into money, by said Trustee, by sale thereof or otherwise, and the sum of Two hundred and fifty dollars thereof paid over by him to Henrietta Korns, the mother of said children, if living, and the balance thereof, or the whole, if the said Henrietta Korns be not then living, shall be divided equally among my children and their descendants, the child or children of a child taking the share or portion to which the parent would be entitled if living. And I hereby authorize and direct the Orphans' Court of Allegany County, in case the said Samuel T. Little, at any time or from any cause, fail to act as such Trustee, to appoint some suitable person in his place and stead, and to make such other appointments, in case of failure to act as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this trust.

Item - To Bessie P. Conley, daughter of James P. Conley, I give and bequeath four shares of the Capital Stock of the Third National Bank of Cumberland, and also the furniture in the third story of my dwelling house, which formerly belonged to her said father.

It is my will and I hereby direct that all the aforesaid devises and bequests be first fully paid, and as to the rest and residue of my estate my will is as follows:

I hereby authorize and direct my executrix, hereinafter named, to sell and dispose of all the rest and residue of the real, leasehold or other property, of whatever kind or nature, and wherever situated, or any interest therein, of which I may die seized and possessed, and out of the proceeds thereof, if sufficient for the purpose, and if not then proportionately less to each one to whom the same is hereinafter given and bequeathed. I give, devise and bequeath as follows:

Item - To my daughter Catherine Little, wife of Samuel T. Little, I give and bequeath the sum of Six thousand dollars, less however the sum of Eighteen hundred dollars for which I hold her said husband's note, which said note is not to be collected from him, and less also any other note or notes I may hold against said S. T. Little or his son, Jesse T. Little, and also any further sum or sums of money which may hereafter be paid by me, or out of my estate, to or for my said daughter, her husband, or any of their children, or any or all of them. And in case the money hereafter paid to or for them or any of them, as aforesaid, together with said note for Eighteen hundred dollars, without interest on said note and said other note or notes, with interest, amounts to more than Six thousand dollars, then what is over said sum is to be a debt due my estate, to be collected by my executrix and treated as part of the residue of my estate.

Item - To my daughter, Columbia Price, wife of William M. Price, I give and bequeath the sum of Six thousand dollars, less however the sum of Fifteen hundred dollars for a note I hold against her, and the sum of Ten hundred and seventy-one dollars, for a note I hold against her said husband, and such other notes as I may hold against my said daughter and her husband or either of them, and less also any further sum or sums of money which may be paid by me, or out of my estate to or for my said daughter and her husband or either of them. And in case the money hereafter paid to or for them or either of them as aforesaid, together with said notes, without interest on said notes, amounts to more than Six thousand dollars, then what is over said sum is to be a debt due my estate, to be collected by my executrix and treated as part of the residue of my estate.

Item - To Jesse Conley and Emily Conley, children of James P. Conley, I give and bequeath the sum of One hundred dollars each.

Item - To Harriet Ann Plank, niece of my late wife, I give and bequeath the sum of Two hundred dollars.

All the rest and residue of my estate not hereinbefore disposed of, if any, I will and direct to be divided equally among my said three daughters, Hester A. Korn, Catherine Little and Columbia Price and my said son Charles H. Korn, and their descendants, the child or children of a child taking the share to which the parent would be entitled if living, and in case my said son should not be then living, the portion or share to his child or children is to be managed and controlled by said Trustee as hereinbefore directed.

It is my earnest wish and desire to give satisfaction to my children and all concerned in this my last Will and Testament, but in case any of them shall be so ungrateful as to undertake to set aside or vacate the same, then he, she or they or his, her or their child or children shall forfeit all rights or benefits under it.

And lastly I do hereby constitute and appoint my daughter, Hester A. Korn, to be sole executrix of this my last Will and Testament, revoking and annulling all former Wills by me heretofore made, ratifying and confirming this and none other to be my last Will and Testament.

In testimony whereof I hereto set my hand and seal this fourth day of June, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty one.

Jesse Korn {Seal}

Signed, sealed, published and declared by the above named Jesse Korn, as and for his last Will and Testament, in our presence, who, at his request, in his presence and in presence of each other, have hereto set our hands as witnesses hereto, the two interlineations on the sixth page and one on the seventh page having been made before said Will was signed by the testator.
